INTERNATIONAL WORKSHOP ON HIGHER EDUCATION ON HIGHER EDUCATION

Grasslands, pastoral systems and global change

The continuity of pastoralism in mountain areas of Europe faces manifold uncertainties. This is the case in the Pyrenees, where pastoralism is immersed in a long-term process of reorganization. The face of mountain pastoralism and pastures is changing. This session focuses on the implications of such trends for ecological and social domains. Specifically, the effects on biodiversity and job availability of current trends in pastoral activity in the region will be addressed.
